Additional comments, either specifically related to the items listed above, or generally:

Dr. Kadane's performance varied considerably with some through work-ups but other with deficiencies. He took several days off and tried to take others so that it was difficult to count on his being part of our team. He expressed the wish to not be had to rotate on an email at all from the beginning and this is likely to have led to the above problems. I would like to have his performance with many of our staff physicians, who then report on

Signed M.D.
